Pay ₹1.19 cr to 3 victims, HC tells KPTCL, Bescom

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court directed the Karnataka Power Transmission Corporation Ltd (KPTCL) and Bangalore Electricity Supply Company (Bescom) to pay a compensation of Rs 1.19 crore to two minors and the wife of a victim for electricity-related injuries and electrocution, respectively.

Justice S Sunil Dutt Yadav directed KPTCL and Bescom to pay the compensation within three months. If there is a delay, 6 per cent interest has to be added per annum, it said.

In the first petition by Rekha, wife of N M Subramanya from Naganahalli in Sakleshpur taluk, KPTCL was directed to pay her Rs 25.52 lakh. Subramanya (36), father of four minor children and a farm worker, was electrocuted after coming in contact with a feeder line while harvesting pepper using an aluminum ladder in a coffee plantation.

In the second case, the court ordered Bescom to pay Rs 49.26 lakh to K Chandana (15) of Lotteghallalli in Bengaluru. She is the daughter of an autorickshaw driver. On October 19, 2017, she came in contact with an electric line when carrying an iron mop stick while climbing stairs in her house and sustained injuries, resulting in amputation of her left elbow.

In the third case, KPTCL was directed to pay Rs 44.32 lakh to Muizz Ahmad Sharif (7), son of a contract worker, from Guruppanapalya in Bengaluru. On September 16, 2017, he suffered 80 per cent burns and 40 per cent deep injuries after coming in contact with a high-tension line while jumping from the terrace of his building to a neighbouring building to retrieve a cricket ball.

HIGH COURT REJECTS KPTCL PETITION

THE HC said inaction of either the KPTCL, or a civic body like BBMP, to remove constructions adjacent to high-tension power lines cannot defeat victims' claims. Citing an SC order, it said if a structure has been put up close to power lines, escoms must demolish it. Justice S Sunil Dutt Yadav said, rejecting the application filed by KPTCL. KPTCL contended that the land owner, who gave the aluminum ladder to labourer NM Subramanya in Sakleshpur, who was electrocuted while harvesting pepper, was also negligent and must be made liable. It contended in another petition that BBMP and owner of the building on which Muizz Ahmad Sharif came in contact with a line was also liable because the building owner had put up a construction by not maintaining a 4-metre distance from the high-tension line. But the court noted that BBMP being a joint contributor to the accident is a matter of separate inquiry and proceedings cannot be enlarged to include the building owner.

Wanted to end own life, claims dentist mother

DURING questioning, the dentist told the police that she had decided to commit suicide after killing her daughter.

Sushma and Kiran got married 12 years ago. They stayed in London for some time and did not have a child for six years. Sushma then went for artificial insemination and gave birth to Dhuthi. But she was negligent towards her daughter after knowing that she was mentally challenged.

Two from notorious Ramji Nagar gang held

BENGALURU: Two members of the notorious Ramji Nagar gang have been arrested by the Bandepalya police. Rs 1.10 lakh in cash and laptops as well as other valuables worth around Rs 11 lakh have been recovered from them, who used to break into cars and steal valuables. The gang is known for diverting the attention of motorists and stealing their valuables. The arrested are identified as Nataraj and Gokul. The duo had stolen two laptops, a mobile phone and cash after breaking the windshield of a car on July 16.

Fake stamp paper racket busted, 11 arrested

BENGALURU: CCB sleuths have busted a fake stamp paper racket by arresting 11 accused and seized fake documents worth around Rs 5 lakh. Acting on a tip-off, the police raided several typing stalls at Kandaya Bhavan in Halasuru Gate police station limits and arrested the accused. The arrested are Vishwanath, the kingpin of the racket; Karthik; Venkatesh; Shyammaraju; Shashidar; Kariyappa; Ravi Shankar; Shivshankarappa; Gunashekar; Raghav and Kishore. Screen printing machines, 119 fake rubber stamps and empty paper sheets have also been recovered.

New mothers struggle to breastfeed; careers, age, stress are main cause

SHILPA P @ Bengaluru

CAREER, late marriages, advanced maternal age, professional stress, lifestyle changes and other reasons are leading to decreased secretion of breast milk, and depriving babies of the best source of nutrition.

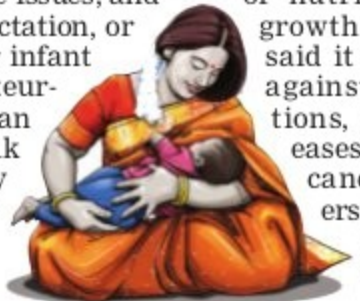

Doctors and experts have expressed concern over this trend, as the world observes Breastfeeding Awareness Week. They state that around 15-20 per cent of new mothers struggle to breastfeed due to low milk production, and 40-50 per cent of mothers are forced to stop breastfeeding due to professional reasons, within two or three months of birth. Dr Santosh Kumar, neonatologist and paediatrician,

Motherhood Hospital, said, "Pre-existing conditions like diabetes, hypertension, obesity, premature birth, genetic modulation, environment, stress in balancing professional and family life, food habits, nutrition, sleep cycle and exposure to new diseases impact breast milk production."

Experts say that women should seek doctors' advice on preventing these issues, and on improving lactation, or they can opt for infant formula or pasteurised donor human milk from a milk bank, preferably for premature or sick babies. However, they also caution that such milk can cause necrotizing enterocolitis, and bottle feeding can lead to risk of infections like diarrhoea, ear infection, pneumonia and sepsis. It can also put infants at risk of long-term problems like obesity, metabolic syndrome and poor scholastic performance.

Gynaecologist and obstetrician Dr Smriti D Nayak said breast milk is the best source of nutrition for optimal growth of the baby. She said it protects children against allergies, infections, sickness and diseases like diabetes and cancer. Ideally, mothers should breastfeed for six months to at least one year.

Ahead of polls, ministers edgy over allotted dists

Feel stretched now, want to go back to their home turfs

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai recently repealed an order changing district-in charge responsibilities of two of his ministers, exposing the discontent among some ministers over the allotment of districts to them.

When the allotments were made initially, there were protests at newly-formed Vijayanagara district by supporters of Tourism Minister Anand Singh as he was given Koppal, while Muzrai Minister Shashikala Jolle was allotted Vijayanagar.

With the 2023 Assembly elections approaching, Singh had wished to return to his home district as he is the MLA from Hosapete. Agreeing to his demand, Bommai had issued the order, but had to repeal it as there was a flood of requests from other ministers.

In fact, most ministers feel constrained now, as they have to take care of their home districts apart from those allotted to them.

But they are not openly expressing their concerns, as the party high command has decided to allot districts other than the home turfs to ministers. But only two of Bommai's colleagues -- Transport Minister B Sriramulu, MLA from Molakalmuru in Chitradurga district, and Energy Minister Sunilkumar Karkala -- are lucky as they got Ballari and Dakshina Kannada districts where their writs run. But 23 others are juggling between their present responsibilities and their home districts. They fear it could have an adverse impact on their prospects in the polls, a leader said.

Home Minister Araga Jnanendra, in charge of Tumakuru district, had a tough time attending to various issues. Some of his supporters were reportedly handling certain issues, sources said.

But state BJP chief spokesman MG Mahesh said it was Ramakrishna Hegde who set the precedent of reshuffling district in-charge ministers. "The objective is to ensure that the minister acts impartially. Bommai's ministers have been handling their tasks efficiently by attending to grievances of people in their respective in-charge districts," he claimed.

Cabinet may discuss rain damage at Aug 10 meet

BANSY KALAPPA
@ Bengaluru

THE state cabinet will meet on August 10 to discuss, among other things, extensive damage caused to agriculture, roads and other infrastructure by heavy rain across the state and steps needed to address these issues.

Official teams that surveyed the damage across the state estimated that 5,771 hectares of agriculture land have been affected by rain and flood between the first week of June and July 16 and another 10,984 hectares between July 16 and the second week of August.

The number of landslides reported too has been high this time at 370. The PWD and district infrastructure teams assess that 3,600 km of roads and 650 bridges have suffered damage. Also, 16,000 houses have been affected, while over 400 heads of cattle have died.

Water Resources Minister Govind Karjol said, "District and taluk administration officials have reported that affected people have been moved to government institutions, like schools and colleges, from flooded areas." Chief Secretary Vandita Sharma said, "Disaster Management Commissioner Manoj Rajan has kept track of the developments." A report stated many government offices and schools and anganwadis, have suffered damage. An official said the actual numbers could be much higher.

Cong questions Palike ward list, Bommai hits back

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Opposition Congress on Friday accused the government of ignoring social justice and preparing the BBMP ward reservation list with the sole objective of helping candidates from the ruling BJP. Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, however, defended the move, saying it was done as per the rules, and slammed Congress for protesting inside Vikasa Soudha on Friday.

KPC president DK Shivakumar said the list has to be prepared according to the population and keeping in mind social justice, but it was not done. The government prepared the list to help BJP candidates and has done injustice to women, SC/STs and backward classes, he charged.

While Shivakumar said they will fight it legally, party MLAs from Bengaluru staged a protest at the Urban Development Department office inside Vikasa Soudha. The Congress leaders accused the department of working like a BJP office and put up a board, "BJP office".

Siddu slams culture dept for using Hindi on website

ENS @ Bengaluru

FORMER chief minister Siddaramaiah slammed the state BJP government for using Hindi on the official website of Kannada and Culture Department. Soon after his criticism, the department quickly made changes on the website.

"Is it the Department of Kannada and Culture in the state or Department of Hindi and Culture," he questioned on social media. He had tagged a screenshot of the department's homepage that had 'Har Ghar Tiranga', 'Azadi Ka Amrut Mahotsav' and 'Bharat Sarkar Sanskriti Mantralaya (Ministry of Culture, Government of India)', in Hindi.

He accused the state government of imposing Hindi and insulting Kannada to appease the BJP Central leaders. He said the banner at the programme in Bengaluru that was attended by Union Home Minister Amit Shah was completely in Hindi.

He urged the Kannada and Culture Department to remove Hindi from its official website and said, "Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and Kannada and Culture Minister Sunil Kumar should clarify that". He said if Sunil Kumar decides to use the department's website to campaign for Hindi, who will save Kannada.

While the department removed Hindi from its website, some netizens slammed Congress for ignoring Kannada in the banner at the meeting attended by former AICC president Rahul Gandhi in Hubballi on Tuesday.

Govt supports banning of 'Pakistan-backed' groups: Ashoka

ENS @ Mysuru

REVENUE Minister R Ashoka on Friday said the state government will extend full support towards banning certain organisations, allegedly supported by Pakistan. While the government will not hesitate to ban organisations, including SDPI, KFD, and PFI, they could again regroup with some other name, he added.

He said that while the Centre had banned these organisations, they continued their activities under new names.

He said that when was home minister, he had taken measures to ban these organisations and had also held talks with the Centre. The Kerala government too wants to ban these outfits, but it takes time, he added.

The Centre has started gathering information about leaders of these outfits, and intends to take suitable action against them, he said, adding that the BJP government has registered 200 cases against these activists. He, however, blamed Congress for their growth.

Ex-MLA challenges Madhu Swamy for seat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Tumakuru

KARNATAKA State Bioenergy Development Board chairman K S Kiran Kumar, former MLA, has launched his 2023 election campaign from Chikkanayakanahalli assembly constituency. On Friday, he set up an office for his supporters, declaring that he is a serious contender for the BJP ticket, and giving Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister J C Madhu Swamy the jitters.

The former MLA from erstwhile Kallambella -- a seat which disappeared following the delimitation of constituencies in 2008 -- had been waging a cold war with Madhu Swamy for several years. In the 2018 polls, he reportedly sacrificed the constituency for the latter, owing to pressure from the party high command and former chief minister B S Yediyurappa.

But he continued to organise BJP workers on his own, and also held a huge rally some months ago with the blessings of Tumakuru LS member G S Basavaraju. Both leaders are reportedly averse to Madhuswamy.

Kiran Kumar was not removed from his post of Board chairman when the government effected an order to remove about 52 chairpersons of different boards and corporations recently. It meant he has the backing of the party high command and also Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, a source informed TNIE, adding that even the RSS is in his favour.

"I sacrificed the seat in 2018, as Yediyurappa and the high command promised to give me the ticket in 2023. So I launched the campaign to send out a clear message to party workers that my contest is certain," Kiran told reporters recently.

There are also rumours that Madhu Swamy may not contest from Chikkanayakanahalli in 2023.

2 freedom fighters chosen for Governor's visit

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai will also accompany the Governor.

Two freedom fighters - 101-year-old Nagabhushan Rao of Malleshwaram and R Narayanamma of Halasuru - have been chosen for the Governor's visit.

Gehlot has also directed the Chief Secretary to direct all Deputy Commissioners to go to freedom fighters' houses to felicitate them.

Sources from governor's office said many of the freedom fighters are no more with us.

"The freedom fighters we have with us now have reached the ripe age of 100+ years. As a mark of respect for their age and the sacrifices they have made for the country, this decision has been taken," a source familiar with the matter said.

TO please rain god Indra, the Halakki Vokkaliga community conducts a marriage between two women, who are symbolically married for rain, productivity and happiness.

At the village of at Taramakki village, near Gokarna, in Uttara Kannada, a huge gathering of the Hulaskere Halakki members had gathered to participate in a colourful procession with traditional folk music and singing.

Gradually, the youth took over and danced to DJ music. The procession halted at Kethaki Vinayaka temple, which also hosts Karidevaru, another tribal deity, for a unique wedding. "It is a wedding of two women to please Indra and is performed whenever there is a scarcity of rainfall," said Somu Gouda, a tribal elder.

At the all-woman wedding, men play a very minor role. "It has been practised for ages. Interestingly, the community has kept its tradition alive. The wedding is carried out entirely by women, right from selecting the bride and her partner. On an auspicious day, the women's 'committee' announces the bride and groom. All the women participate," said Vinayak Shastri, priest at Gokarna Mahabaleshwar temple.

"The women exchange garlands and conduct other wedding rituals. The only difference is that instead of holy Sanskrit chants, there are folk songs, music, ballads and chants in local lingo," said Sandeep Gouda, a resident.

The marriage, which lasts a couple of hours, concludes with a procession to the house of the community head, who bestows gifts on the couple. The women do not live together, and are married only to please the gods.

Despite a heavy monsoon, Uttara Kannada district has received below normal rainfall, with the exception of Bhatkal. Sowing has been under 50 per cent.

STARTUPS NOT LIMITED TO BIG CITIES, SAYS MODI

ENS @ Mysuru

STATING that startups today are not limited to big cities, PM Narendra Modi said there is an unprecedented intent to innovate and solve problems with new ideas.

In his message to the three-day Mysuru startup pavilion and conclave -- a start-up summit and expo organised by SJCE-Science and Technology Entrepreneurs Park and other Mysuru ecosystem partners, inaugurated here on Friday, Modi said the large-scale participation of students, institutions, researchers, faculty industry and MSMEs is an opportunity to learn from each other. Modi, who was to inaugurate the event virtually, instead sent a message to the organisers, saying the summit will come up with a practical roadmap for larger good and said the launch of Protean cloud Technology helps leverage technology to meet growing aspirations of people in rural areas.

After inaugurating the conclave, Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar, the scion of erstwhile Mysuru Royal family, said Mysuru has every ingredient to support entrepreneurs.

SLEUTHS of Crime Investigation Department (CID) probing the PSI CET Scam in Kalaburagi arrested eight more accused on Thursday evening, and produced them before the court on Friday, sources told TNIE here on Friday.

The arrested include Bhagavantraya Jogur of Jewargi, who secured 1st rank in PSI CET under the Hyderabad-Karnataka quota; Kallappa Siddappa Allapur, who secured 4th rank in the PSI CET, and presently working as police constable in Devadurga of Raichur district; Srishail Hachhad, who secured 22nd rank in Hyderabad-Karnataka; Ravi-raj; Peerappa Sidnal; Siddugouda Sharanappa Patil; So-manath; and Vijaykumar Gudur. One of the accused, Siddugouda Patil, is the brother of scam kingpin RD Patil's wife, and he is presently working as First Division Assistant at Mudnal Primary Health Centre in Yadgir district.

CID sources said that RD Patil had managed to provide bluetooth facility to all the eight accused in order to help them easily answer questions in the PSI CET exam, which was held at different centres in Kalaburagi on October 3. The CID sleuths arrested the eight based on inputs provided by other accused, who have already faced the inquiry by CID and are presently in judicial custody.

A sharp fall in prices of tomatoes forced farmers to dump their produce at the tomato market in Chikkammanahalli village of Challakere taluk in Chitradurga district on Friday.

Tomatoes, which were sold for Rs 100 per kg in May this year, saw a sharp fall in prices and traders were not willing to pick up a box of tomatoes, containing 15 kg, even for Rs 10. Frustrated farmers dumped tomatoes by the side of National Highway 150A and then ran tractors over them. Lack of processing units in the region too has been affecting tomato growers. As tomatoes hit record-high prices recently, a large number of farmers from Kallahalli, Torekolammanahalli, Nayakanahatti and other areas had sown the crop. But with good yields and glut in the market, prices have hit the rock bottom.

Maruthesh, a farmer from Kallahalli, said, "I have grown tomatoes in four acres and the yield is good. On Friday, I harvested 150 boxes, but traders quoted Rs 10 per box. I decided to dump the tomatoes next to the Bidar-Srirangapatna Highway. I have not been able to recover my investment and now, I have a debt of Rs 4 lakh."

People passing on the road, truck drivers and others were seen stopping and picking tomatoes from the dump.

Another farmer Ravikumar from Kereyagalhalli said, "I have taken loans running into lakhs from banks to grow tomatoes. I am not even plucking the fruit because of low prices."

Senior Assistant Director of Horticulture, Challakere, Virupakshappa said, "Good quality tomatoes are sold for Rs 60-70 per box, which comes to Rs 4.60 per kg, while the round ones are sold for Rs 10-15 per; which is just Rs 1 per kg. It does not even meet the cost of production." He said, "On Thursday, the price was around Rs 140 per box. Even at that price, the production cost is not met, but at least there was some solace for farmers. Chikkammanahalli has the largest tomato market in central Karnataka. Tomatoes grown in Kudligi, Ballari, Molakalmuru, Chitradurga, Hiriyur, Rayadurga, Sirra, Challakere and other places are brought here. The produce is sent to Bengaluru, Telangana, Andhra Pradesh and Maharashtra."

REPO RATE CUTS OF COVID-ERA FULLY REVERSED

The RBI on Friday raised the benchmark repo rate by 50 bps, restoring the pre-Covid rate regime, but the central question is whether inflation has peaked. Governor Shaktikanta Das repeatedly said inflation remains 'uncomfortably and unacceptably high' but also announced signs of high inflation bottoming out. If so, does it warrant an aggressive 0.5% hike? Moreover, the RBI's Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) took cognisance of the IMF's warning on global recessionary risks and that it'll affect us, yet the distinguished members unanimously voted for 50 bps. It's like saying we feel the fear, but we'll hike anyway, even if that amounts to tightening into weakness. But for how long? Das said they have no clue when to pause, and markets promptly revised repo rate projections to 6% by next quarter itself against the estimated 5.75% by March 2023. In other words, alongside high inflation, households must survive high borrowing costs, even though incomes are unlikely to move an inch.

Agreed, the MPC has no choice but to hike, but few expected 50 bps barrelling towards markets, which Das blamed on the global monetary bonfire. Of late, 50 bps has become the norm. With some even opting for 75-100 bps rate hikes, RBI can't allow for widening the spread between our interest rates and others, particularly the US, where capital is flowing out, weakening the rupee. So to manage the tightrope walk between growth, inflation and capital outflows, MPC's 'whatever it takes approach' appears justifiable.

The MPC is facing its biggest challenge since the inflation targeting regime began in 2016. As Bank of England Governor Andrew Bailey recently noted, such committees were set up for times exactly like these. The worth of any regime is tested in the difficult, not the nice, times, and their job is to hit the target (4% inflation in our case). No ifs or buts. While Das rightly mentioned that future policy actions would be made in real-time, the MPC must exercise caution to avoid excessive tightening that could hurt growth.

IUML'S NEW VOICE OF CONSERVATISM

The signals emanating from a section in the Indian Union Muslim League are disconcerting. The group, known for its sagacious stance has suddenly turned hawkish, perhaps deciding that by becoming ultra-conservative it can negotiate rising radicalisation in the community and help the party retain its support base. IUML state secretary M K Muneer's outburst against gender neutrality, liberalism and atheism is perceived to be borne out of this conviction. Muneer, a soft-spoken politician, was uncharacteristically aggressive while addressing a Muslim students' conference last Sunday. He asked Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan to wear a sari to prove his commitment to gender-neutral attire in educational institutions. His pot shots about the personal lives of communist legends Marx, Engels and Lenin have raised many eyebrows. But those who know IUML's internal dynamics see a method in the apparent madness. Muneer is trying to woo a growing section of the Muslim youth that is getting attracted to outfits like Popular Front of India. The section sees the quietist stance of the IUML as capitulation before the Hindutva forces. And Muneer wants to win over this group and block PFI from taking advantage.

Muneer also wants to scuttle leader P K Kunhalikutty's designs. Rumours are rife that Kunhalikutty is anxious to get accommodation for his party in the CPM-led ruling front. Branding communism as an anti-Muslim ideology that promotes sexual anarchy could help intensify the community's antagonism towards CPM.

The damage to the community is unpredictable. There is an enlightened minority in the community that is strenuously trying to engage the issues like gender neutrality and modernity in a meaningful way. The section, which comprises a large number of girls, is simultaneously fighting the patriarchal traces in the religion, the Euro-centric feminist notions, and the cotton-candy type liberalism. By simplifying the gender issue as that of 'men wearing women's dress' and turning the community hostile towards gender politics, Muneer may win applause from the galleries. But giving legitimacy to conservative voices would only set the community backwards, negating the decades of social progress that has started bearing fruit.

VIOLENCE AS A GLOBAL PUBLIC HEALTH PROBLEM

SUNDAR SARUKKAI

Bengaluru-based author of Philosophy for Children: Thinking, Reading, Writing

Finally, we seem to be coming out of the Covid pandemic. But this is also the moment to remember that the world has been in the midst of a more sustained and silent pandemic for the last few decades—the growing pandemic of violence. It is a pandemic in the sense that it spreads, infects and destroys people and societies.

Over 25 years ago, as early as 1996, the Forty-Ninth World Health Assembly declared violence as a major global public health problem. While billions have been spent to tackle Covid, this pandemic of violence has been allowed to fester and grow. The Health Assembly's declaration must remind us that violence is not an isolated issue but one that impacts the physical and mental health of the population of the world.

Violence has become so common and pervasive that it has become normalised. People get bored without violence. Cartoons are violent, and the biggest English pulp bestsellers are almost all about violent deaths. Movies are in a race to present more and more stylised images of violence. I was shocked to see the kind of senseless killing in a recent Tamil film, Vikram, which was a major hit. I was horrified to see people clapping in scenes when somebody is being brutally killed. News is full of images of wars and conflicts, pictures of destroyed buildings, machines of war and broken people, but the pictures don't do anything to our moral conscience. To continue to think that the immersion in all this violence has no consequence is to be delusional.

The pervasive violence that we practice is not just towards other living creatures. Our modern societies are also deeply violent towards the environment for everything that we do in terms of our excessive consumption of food, water, air, entertainment, and gadgets is to intentionally cause harm to nature.

It is important to recognise violence as the new pandemic since violence is going to have an increasing impact on our lives. Violence against nature has reduced the quality of air and water to dangerous levels in our cities. More and more children suffer from physical illnesses related to the degradation of the environment as well from psychological illnesses related to various forms of violence. Millions of women and men have died violent deaths.

Yet, how is it that such a 'disease' of violence gets continuously ignored?

Violence is often ignored because it is often misread as a psychological aberration. Thus, one tends to view violence as something to do with an individual's bad behaviour. But to understand violence in this manner is a grievous mistake. This, along with other mistakes about the nature of violence, allows the pandemic of violence to grow silently.

I will consider two such common mistakes regarding violence. One is the belief that the person who is violent has no control over his or her actions. In almost all cases, this belief is untrue. A man may be violent towards his wife but will be controlled in his reactions to his boss or in the office. Even in public riots, mob violence is

Violence has become so common ... that it has become normalised. ... Cartoons are violent, and the biggest English pulp bestsellers are almost all about violent deaths. Movies are in a race to present more and more stylised images of violence. I was shocked to see the kind of senseless killing in a recent Tamil film, Vikram, which was a major hit. I was horrified to see people clapping in scenes when somebody is being brutally killed very controlled, and what seems to be 'spontaneous' is often triggered in very specific ways.

In general, being violent is a volitional act. It is a deliberate decision and choice. The essential aspect of violence is its intentionality. One is violent in order to deliberately hurt—physically, mentally, sexually. Whatever the provocation and the underlying cause, the moment of violence is most often just an expression of deciding to lose control.

It is important to recognise that violence is not the default condition of being human. However, many cynics might want to claim otherwise. As social individuals, we are not given to violence as a rule. Animals are not violent in the way humans are. Animals attack each other and maybe even eat the other, but the act is not intentional, not in the hope of purposefully wanting to hurt another creature. There is more empathy than violence within each one of us. But then, how do we explain this excess of violence all around us?

The answer is that violence is always socially produced. Dominant social groups produce violence towards communities such as the Dalits, women and minorities historically. It is a dangerous mistake to reduce this socially produced violence to something that is psychological. Or reduce it to a cause which justifies the violence. This so-called cause often becomes the justification for violence.

There is a major implication of the claim that violence is socially produced. First and foremost, is that we are granted social permission to be violent towards certain people and things. We allow ourselves the liberty to be violent towards others. The social sanction allows us to be violent towards those who are lower in the social hierarchy. So we see people abusing and being violent toward domestic help and the poor on the streets without a second thought. Within homes and increasingly in the public space, violence towards women gets socially sanctioned.

Thus, the move to recognise violence as a public health problem was an important one and has to be re-strengthened now. As a public health problem, we can realise that violence towards others will affect all of us. After all, during Covid, most people were careful to protect themselves and others from being infected. How do we do this about the spreading virus of hate and violence?

FAMILY ADOPTION WILL ENRICH MEDICAL EDUCATION

PROF (DR) K SRINATH REDDY

Cardiologist, epidemiologist and President, Public Health Foundation of India (PHFI)

Earlier this year, the National Medical Commission (NMC) advised medical colleges to alter the pattern of medical education by connecting undergraduate students to families in rural communities. The 'family adoption programme' links each medical student to three to five rural families. The student would need to visit these families once a month. With supportive supervision from a faculty member of the college, the student would get acquainted with the health problems of the family members, chart their course and assist in their management through facilitation of telehealth consultations and referrals to healthcare facilities if need be.

The objectives of this reform, which would supplement the standard medical curriculum, are to orient young medical students to commonly prevalent health problems and available health system resources in rural areas. The idea was that such medical students would serve better in rural areas after graduation than those receiving all or most of their education in urban settings. Several medical colleges have recently initiated this new programme for the commencing batches.

There has been just criticism that medical education in India has become disconnected from rural reality because it was mostly taught in hospitals imparting advanced medical care attached to medical colleges in highly urbanised locations.

This meant that students were not familiar with common conditions which called for care in primary care settings. They also saw diseases in a late phase of natural history. The ability to provide care in resource-constrained settings, such as many rural areas, was not a skill they could gain in the tertiary care environment.

Most importantly, the role definition of a doctor, in the perception of the medical student, was distorted and depersonalised by how training was sequenced in the conventional frame of medical education. There, the student first encounters a cold cadaver in the anatomy hall and is trained to dissect it or study it part by part to gather knowledge. Medical education thus takes a reductionist approach to the organs of the dead than a holistic appreciation of the health problems of the living.

When the student transitions to the clinical side in the hospital, the student is further encouraged to learn from 'interesting clinical findings' of patients: a heart murmur 'on bed 24' or an abdominal lump 'on bed 11', often not even referring to the patient who is the occupant of that bed. Much less identify and empathise with the human being who has the findings of clinical interest for the young learner whose focus is now on performing well in the exam rather than serving the patient. Even an idealistic student is in danger of emerging as a paternalistic physician in this process.

There has been just criticism that medical education in India has become disconnected from rural reality because it was mostly taught in hospitals imparting advanced medical care attached to medical colleges in highly urbanised locations. This meant that students were not familiar with common conditions which called for care in primary care settings

The Faculty of Medicine at the Suez Canal University is a WHO collaborating centre for medical education. It is internationally reputed for adopting 'an integrated, student-centred, problem and community-based curriculum' since its inception in 1978. There is integration between basic and clinical sciences, and the community becomes an educational medium. After entry into the programme, the students are trained to map the community's prevalent health problems and assess their prioritised health needs, even as they course through the formal structured education in the institution.

Through regular community connect, they become informed facilitators. In the classroom and libraries, they seek and acquire the knowledge that can ameliorate the health problems they have noted in the community. Even in the hospital setting, this empathetic attitude helps them to identify with the person who is behind the label of a 'case'.

When a student gets attached to a family (I prefer that to the paternalistic phrase that the student 'adopts' the family), there is an enhanced opportunity for greater medical learning and social understanding. The natural history of disease and recovery is tracked through time in the affected families during the long follow-up period.

Access to drugs and their affordability cease to be abstract issues, while drug resistance may be understood as a real challenge. The social determinants of health, including gender differences in access to healthcare, will be witnessed first-hand in some families. Financial barriers to healthcare, when evident, will make the medical student appreciate the need for universal health coverage.

The requirement of family attachment throughout undergraduate medical education will greatly enhance the quality of medical education by creating an emotional connection with the community and the patients therein. It reorients the young student's mind from being a seeker of knowledge merely for personal and professional advancement to becoming an informed facilitator who acquires medical knowledge and skills to assist the community in promoting, preserving or regaining good health and wellbeing.

Now that this long overdue reform has been initiated, it must suffuse through the soul of medical education and not be treated merely as a token gesture to the often espoused but long-neglected concept of community connectedness.

Shankars triumph

Both Shankars made India proud by jumping their best at the Commonwealth Games. While Tejaswin Shankar clinched the bronze in the high jump by covering 2.22 m, Murali Sreeshankar won the silver in long jump. Both of them deserve hearty congratulations. The country must celebrate such achievements in sports.

CUET glitches

Appropos of Nothing cute as tech glitches mar Day One of CUET-UG 2 (August 5). It is unfortunate that thousands of students could not take the crucial examination called Central University Entrance Test (Undergraduate). Due to technical glitches, the National Testing Agency postponed the exams. No one thought about the impact this would have on the mental health and morale of so many aspirants. This speaks volumes about the credibility of such examinations. Strict confidentiality and good planning are needed since these exams define the future of the students.

Hindi superiority

The Union government has launched a campaign for the hoisting of the national flag from August 13 to August 15 to commemorate the 75th year of independence. The campaign theme is "Har Ghar Tiranga". Since the slogan has been coined in Hindi, it may convey the impression that it is meant only for those who speak Hindi. Is this a subtle way of imposing the language? The slogan should have been coined in the respective languages of the states. Moreover, hoisting the national flag is only a symbolic gesture of displaying one's patriotism. True patriotism can be shown by respecting the rule of law in all matters. Our leaders should lead by example in this regard.

Eye on safer communication: Army conducts Exercise Skylight

Drill undertaken from July 24 to 29 included areas right from J&K to the south, north and western points of India

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

KEEPING the future warfare in mind, which the Indian Army feels will be dominated by technologies, the force has carried out "Exercise Skylight" for the first to ensure operational readiness of secure all satellite-based systems.

For making its communication faster and safer against enemy hacking it has also initiated work in the sphere of Quantum Computing.

The across the country exercise conducted from July 24 to 29 included areas right from Jammu & Kashmir to the southern point, eastern and western parts of the country and the island territories like Andaman and Lakshadweep.

Sources in the defence establishment said, "The objective of the exercise was to ensure operational readiness of hi-tech satellite systems and personnel manning these. In this exercise, 100% of all satellite communication assets in the Indian Army were activated and various technical and operational scenarios in the space domain were played up. Various agencies responsible for space and ground segments, as also ISRO participated in the exercise." Adding further the sources informed that in this exercise, more than 200 static terminals, over 80 transportable vehicles and man-portable-based systems were tested. With the successful validation of all communication satellites, the Indian Army has planned to hold such exercises regularly to review the operational preparedness of the systems.

The objective of the exercise was to ensure operational readiness of hi-tech satellite systems and personnel manning these. In this exercise, 100% of all satellite communication assets in the Indian Army were activated

Defence source

During the exercise, the communication satellite performed well even in bad weather, snow-bound areas and rains. The troops on the ground did not face any challenges in receiving the information or messages from the Command.

Keeping the aim of the exercise, the Army involved several external agencies including ISRO, they said.

The Indian Army has begun working for its independent satellite as currently, Indian Army doesn't have its own satellite. There are over hundreds of communication terminals of various types connected on ISRO satellites.

It is pertinent to mention here that currently, India has only two dedicated military satellites - the GSAT-7 (Rukmini) and GSAT-7A (Angry Bird) - used by the Indian Navy and Air Force respectively.

In March this year, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh-headed Defence Acquisition Council has accorded approval of GSAT-7B for the Indian Army, which has been designed as first of its kind indigenous multiband satellite with advanced security features.

Sources said, "By 2025, we will get this satellite communication system which will make the military related communications safer. "During wartime, the communication system plays a significant role in gaining ground over enemy forces and it is the terrestrial communications which get affected when a fight breaks out."

India, China hold talks to sort out air space breach

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

AMIDST the rising tensions between China and other countries, the military officers of India and China met on Tuesday to discuss issues of rising air force activities and the recent air space violation by the China fighter. Confirming the meetings source said, "Talks were held in Chushul-Moldo meeting point on Tuesday which included a Major General of the Army and an Air Commodore of the Indian Air Force from India. The meeting, along with other things, also discussed the recent reported air space violation conducted by the Chinese PLA Air Force J-11 fighter."

The fighter was said to have crossed the set limit for aircraft of the forces from both sides. The combat, transport and fixed wing aircraft cannot get closer than 10 kilometers from the Line of Actual Control. The IAF Chief Air Chief Marshal VR Chaudhari said recently that the activities of the aircraft of China are closely monitored and as soon as they are seen getting close to the LAC appropriate measures are taken either by scrambling Indian aircraft for putting them on alert.

Tensions have flared up between China and the US since the visit of the US Speaker of the House of Representative, Nacy Pelosi, to Taiwan last week.

Modi greets new Filipino President

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Friday spoke on the phone with President of the Philippines, Ferdinand Marcos Jr.

According to the Prime Minister's Office (PMO): "PM Modi congratulated Marcos Jr on becoming the 17th President of the South-east Asian country following his victory in the presidential election in May."

The two leaders reviewed various areas of bilateral engagement, and expressed satisfaction at the rapid growth of cooperation between the two countries in recent years, the PMO said.

The Prime Minister reiterated the important role that Philippines plays in India's Act East Policy and its Indo-Pacific Vision, and expressed the desire to further expand bilateral relations.

PM Modi also assured the President of India's full support in his plans and projects for Philippines' development.

Railways has over 2.9 lakh vacancies: Minister in House

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

DESPITE claims of the Railway Ministry that it has filled over 3.50 lakh vacancies in the last eight years, more than 2.95 lakh vacancies exist in the non-gazetted and 1,916 in gazetted categories under various railway zones.

In a written reply in the Rajya Sabha, Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said 2,95,684 vacancies existed for various posts under non-gazetted groups as on June 30.

"In 2021, the vacancies under non-gazetted categories were 2,86,105 and 1,880 under gazetted category which increased gradually," official figures shared in the Rajya Sabha said.

The highest number of 37,732 vacancies under the non-gazetted category exists in the Northern Railway zone followed by 29,828 in Eastern Zone, 29,397 in Western Zone and 28,869 in the Central zone. The remaining vacancies exist in other zones.

Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw on Friday said in a written reply in the House that the Railways has provided employment to 3,50,204 people between 2014 and 2022. The minister also said that the process of recruiting around 1.4 lakh more candidates for various posts is being completed.

The minister told the House that the railway as a national transporter has always been creating employment. This year alone, 18,000 persons have been recruited, he said.

As part of PM Modi's promise to provide 10 lakh jobs, the railways is working to complete the process of recruitment for 1.140 lakh more jobs.

As the part of the PM Modi's promise to provide 10 lakh jobs, the railway is working to complete the process of recruitment for 1.140 lakh more jobs to the eligible candidates in near future. ASHWINI VAISHNAW, Railway Minister ries during the Question Hour, the minister said Indian Railways has been a major contributor in providing employment to people in the country and in this year alone 18,000 jobs have been provided. "In addition to filling up of regular vacancies, employment is also generated through outsourcing of non-core activities and execution of projects which are not permanent in nature, through contracting agencies," the minister said.

He said that Indian Railways is a large organisation and occurrence of vacancies is an ongoing process due to retirement, resignation, death etc. and filling up of such vacancies is a continuous process and the same are filled by the placement of indents by Railways with recruitment agencies.

Dual citizenship not permitted under CAA: MEA to Lok Sabha

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE Ministry of External Affairs on Friday said that dual citizenship is not permitted as per the provisions of the Citizenship Act (CAA). Replying to a question in the Lok Sabha on the number of citizens of other countries given Indian citizenship after the implementation of the Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA), the Minister of State for External Affairs V. Muraleedharan said that it is not granted under Article 9 of the Constitution of India read with Section 9 of Citizenship Act, 1955.

To a question on whether national security has been threatened due to dual citizenship, the minister said that the CAA has come into force on 10 January 2020, and persons covered by the Amendment Act can submit applications for grant of Indian citizenship after appropriate rules are notified by the Central Government.

The Citizenship (Amendment) Act, 2019, aims to facilitate the grant of citizenship to migrants belonging to Hindu, Sikh, Buddhist, Jain, Parsi, and Christian communities from Afghanistan, Pakistan, and Bangladesh and have entered India on or before 31, December 2014.

Jaishankar said that CAA is applicable to citizens, who have been exempted from the penal provisions of the Foreigners Act, 1946 and the Passport (Entry into India) Act, 1920, and the rules or orders made thereunder by amending the Passport (Entry into India) Rules 1950 and the Foreigners Order, 1948 vide notifications dated 07, September 2015 and 18, July 2016. On the question on the number of foreign citizens living in the country, he said that there is no accurate estimate of the total number.

Cabinet secretary Rajib Gauba gets one-year extension in tenure

SUMIT KUMAR SINGH @ New Delhi

THE Centre on Friday extended the service of the Cabinet Secretary Rajiv Gauba for a period of one year, which is second extension on the post. The 1982-batch IAS officer of Jharkhand cadre was in 2019 appointed to the country's top bureaucratic post for two years. Gauba, former Union Home Secretary, was given one year extension in August last year.

The order stated: "The Appointments Committee of the Cabinet has approved extension in service to Gauba as Cabinet Secretary for a further period of one-year beyond August 30, 2022." Gauba was key architect behind abrogation of the special status given to erstwhile Jammu and Kashmir under Article 370 of the Constitution and also division into two union territories — Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh.

Gauba had served as Union

Home Secretary from August 2017 to August 2019 before being elevated to the post of Cabinet Secretary. He has also represented India at the International Monetary Fund.

Gauba as Union Home Secretary worked in close coordination with north east states' heads to resolve and minimize the conflict in the region.

As Additional Secretary in MHA, he made an action plan in 2015 to tackle Left Wing Extremists and steered its implementation which has resulted in significantly shrinking the spread of Maoists' area of influence.

Rahul video: SC relief to Zee editor

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday granted interim protection from arrest to Zee News editor Rajnish Ahuja in the multiple FIRs registered over airing a doctored video of Congress MP Rahul Gandhi. The SC issued notices to governments of Rajasthan and Chhattisgarh and also the Union Government and ordered that no coercive steps be taken against the petitioner (Ahuja) with respect to the existing FIRs and future FIRs which are registered on the same subject matter.

The Court allowed the probe to proceed in the first FIR registered in Jaipur but stayed the investigation in the subsequent FIR registered in Raipur. His petition has been tagged with the earlier petition filed by anchor Rohit Ranjan, who was granted interim protection from arrest by a vacation bench on July 8.

Cabinet nod likely to new National Tourism Policy

PARVEZ SULTAN
@ New Delhi

THE much-awaited new National Tourism Policy is at the concluding stage of processing and will soon be placed before the Union cabinet to seek final nod. The tourism ministry officials, privy to the development, said that the ministry had set the ball rolling to finalise the policy document after incorporating suggestions received from the stakeholders and government agencies.

"The draft policy was circulated among all central ministries, state governments, union territory (UTs) administrations and industry (tourism and travel) stakeholders for seeking their comments and suggestions. The draft Policy has been updated; suggestions and feedback received from them have been incorporated. The process of seeking the nod of the cabinet is in progress," said officials.

The draft policy focusing on employment generation, community participation and tourism in a sustainable and responsible manner was sent to the central ministries, government departments, states, UTs

KEY STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES

To enhance the contribution of tourism in Indian economy by increasing the visitation, stay and spend

To create jobs and entrepreneurial opportunities in tourism sector and ensure supply of skilled work force

To enhance the competitiveness of tourism sector and attract private sector investment

Main guiding principle of the policy is to promote sustainable, responsible and inclusive tourism

To ensure sustainable, responsible and inclusive development of tourism in the country

To preserve and enhance the cultural and natural resources of the country

● Ek Bharat Shreshtha Bharat will be a central idea under the policy to enhance interaction and promote mutual understanding between people of different States/UTs to promote a sustained and structured cultural connect in tourism and related areas of culture, traditions & music, cuisine, sports and sharing of best practices and other concerned agencies in January.

In the new policy, the ministry has proposed a slew of reforms and improvement in Visa regime efficiency and transparency in timely applications processing. It seeks streamlining and enhancing visa processing through simplified procedures, shorter application forms, online application, automated and faster processing, improved customer service and capacity at consulates.

Besides various reforms in tourism and hospitality sectors, the ministry has also proposed provisions for regular review of Visa related requirements. "We will soon be sending the document (policy) to the Union cabinet, which is chaired by the PM Narendra Modi," said officials.

'Imaginary', says Bihar JDU chief on future alliance

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

NEARLY a week after Home Minister Amit Shah said the BJP would contest the future polls with its allies in Bihar, Janata Dal (United) national party chief Rajiv Ranjan Singh alias Lalan Singh said that a discussion on it at present was "imaginary".

He said his party got less seats in the last assembly election "due to a conspiracy."

Rajiv Ranjan Singh, who is also the Munger MP, told the media that the party was engaged in making its organization strong at the grassroots level. "First, we will prepare ourselves and then we will decide who will be our alliance partners in elections. Who has seen what will happen tomorrow?" he said.

The union home minister had said the saffron party would contest the 2024 Lok Sabha and 2025 Bihar assembly elections with its allies during the concluding day function of two-day national executive meet of BJP's frontal organisations in the Bihar state capital on July 31.

The JD-U chief is also tipped to join the union cabinet in place of RCP Singh, the estranged leader of JD-U.

"The next Lok Sabha elections are yet to be announced, so any question on alliance will be imaginary," Singh, a close aide of CM Nitish Kumar said.

"My party is setting a goal for a repeat performance of the 2010 elections. The party's strength went down to 43 seats in the 2020 assembly election. It did not mean that the party's support base had shrunk. The tally went down due to a conspiracy," he said.

"All of us are trying to consolidate Nitish's support base."

Our entire focus is on it," said the JD-U chief.

In the 2010 Bihar assembly elections, the JD-U won 115 seats out of 141 it contested with its allies, including the BJP. The party contested the 2015 polls as an ally of the 'grand alliance', which formed the government under the leadership of Nitish with RJD leader Tejashwi Yadav becoming deputy chief minister. Nitish returned to the NDA camp in 2017.

In 2020, it was for the first time that JD-U's seat tally was lower than that of the BJP. LJP leader Chirag Paswan had fielded his party candidates against JD-U's, cutting into the latter's votes. The LJP damaged the JD-U on at least 25 seats. It is also alleged that Chirag did it at the behest of the BJP. However, the JD-U never made such an allegation directly.

Tech glitches persist on CUET Day 2

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

FOR the second consecutive day, harried students and parents had a tough time when many CUET-UG centres cancelled exams due to technical glitches. In a late night statement, the National Testing Agency (NTA) said examinations scheduled for the first shift have been postponed at 20 centres, while at 30 centres the second shift exam has been similarly put off.

The NTA took the decision following reports from observers / city coordinators.

Anxious students through the day posted about their concerns on social media on day two of the Central University Entrance Test undergraduate (CUET-UG) exams.

Students in Noida were the worst affected, with the NTA cancelling the exam there. Many took to social media to share the notice NTA put up in front of the centre.

The notice said, "It is regretted that due to technical/logistics reasons, the CUET (UG) exam scheduled at the centre on August 5 is postponed to August 12."

For students and parents already stressed out due to the exam and travelling long distances to the centre, it was worse as they had to brave the rain for two hours before being turned away as the exam was cancelled at the last minute.

J&K calm on Art 370 repeal anniv

Businesses in Srinagar, other parts remain open as Valley marks third year of transition

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

ON the third anniversary of Article 370 revocation, Kashmir remained calm. Normal life went on smoothly with office goers attending office and traffic plying normally. Shops in the city centre Lal Chowk were open. Unlike last year, when the police broke locks of closed shops at Lal Chowk to force shopkeepers to keep their shops open, this time nothing of the sort happened. Shops and business establishments in Srinagar and other parts of the Valley remained open and did normal business.

In Nowhatta area of Srinagar, some shops were closed. No one called for any strike.

"It was a normal day for us. No doubt, we are hurt by the August 5, 2019 decision but closing our shop for a day will not get it back. There has to be a political approach for getting Article 370 back. Unfortunately, the behaviour of our political leaders has disappointed us," said a Srinagar shopkeeper.

Post Article 370 revocation, there have been only a few shut-downs in the Valley. With most of top and second-rung Hurriyat and separatist leaders under arrest, the separatist politics has gone backstage since August 5, 2019 when the Centre scrapped J&K's special status and bifurcated it into two Union Territories.

A few kms from Lal Chowk,

J&K Lt Governor Manoj Sinha flags off a 'Har Ghar Tiranga' rally at Lal Chowk in Srinagar, which will be taken out from the valley to Delhi as part of celebrations of Article 35A and 370 abrogation on its 3rd anniversary, on Friday | PFI

PDP chief and former CM Mehbooba Mufti led a protest rally of her party against Article 370 revocation. Carrying placards and banners, the PDP leaders and workers demanded restoration of Article 370 and 35A.

Terming August 5, 2019 as a dark day, Mehbooba said, "We have taken the pledge we will get our constitution and special status back. We will also force the government to resolve the Kashmir issue," she said.

Congress party also staged a protest against Article 370 revocation and price hike at party headquarters in Srinagar.

However, unlike PDP and

OIC's Kashmir remark reeks of bigotry: MEA

NEW DELHI: In response to media queries regarding OIC General Secretariat's statement that India's decision on Jammu and Kashmir in August 2019 were "illegal and unilateral", official spokesperson of Ministry of External Affairs Arindam Bagchi said: "The statement issued by the General Secretariat of the Organization of Islamic Cooperation (OIC) on Jammu and Kashmir today reeks of bigotry. The Union Territory of Jammu and Kashmir is and will remain an integral and inalienable part of India." ENS

Congress, the NC did not take out any protest rally. NC president Farooq Abdullah chaired a meeting of party workers at the party office in Srinagar.

"August 5, 2019 marks a breach of trust, decisions not acceptable to us. We hope the Supreme Court will reverse the unilateral, undemocratic and unconstitutional decisions," Abdullah said.

Lt Governor Manoj Sinha also flagged off 'The Great Indian Run' as a part of the Har Ghar Tiranga campaign.

'BJP, Sena would have patched up if not for Rane'

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

DEEPAK KESARKAR, spokesperson for Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde's faction, on Friday dropped a political bombshell by saying that the BJP and Shiv Sena were ready to patch up. However, what sabotaged this move was the inclusion of Narayan Rane in PM Narendra Modi's cabinet, he said.

A former minister for state, Kesarkar said that Shiv Sena and BJP were set to come together once again in Maharashtra. "PM Modi and Uddhav Thackeray had also spoken in this regard. But in the state assembly session, the 12 BJP MLAs got suspended due to their unruly conduct and that delayed the patch up. BJP got angry, but again efforts were made. But BJP's decision of inclusion of Narayan Rane as minister in government sabotaged the tie up plan," Kesarkar said. He said that not one word is incorrect in this narrative. "I say on oath that all this happened but Rane's inclusion in the Modi cabinet and his tirade against Aditya Thackeray angered the Shiv Sena leadership. Rane deliberately dragged Aditya's name in Bollywood actor Sushant Singh Rajput death case. The former and his son Nitesh Rane, both tried to malign Aditya's name by using the BJP platform."

Nagas hit Dimapur streets for settlement of peace negotiations

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

IN the backdrop of calls for the suspension of Assembly elections and the resignation of all 60 MLAs, thousands of the Nagas hit the streets of Nagaland's commercial hub Dimapur on Friday to seek a speedy settlement of the seven-decade-old "Naga political issue".

The Centre's peace talks with the Naga rebel groups have already concluded but the issue remains unresolved as major extremist group National Socialist Council of Nagalim or NSCN-IM has stuck to its guns on the demand of "Naga flag" and "Naga constitution" which, the outfit said, is "non-negotiable." Nagas communities at large on Friday demonstrated their yearning for solution by observing a two-hour-long bandh throughout the length and breadth of the state.

In a memorandum, the Nagaland People's Action

Committee, which organised a public rally in Dimapur, told Prime Minister Narendra Modi that the unending political process had not only adversely affected the lives of people but also taken a huge toll on the entire system of governance.

Political rift

Recently, the Nationalist Democratic Progressive Party and the BJP had signed a seat-sharing pact much to the chagrin of the Naga National Political Groups, which slammed the move for showing more interest in the elections than the settlement of the Naga issue sured, would be a vibrant one," the memorandum to the PM reads.

"Without a political settlement, we foresee thousands of futureless and highly-qualified angry men and women taking up guns to challenge those stifling their growth and progress," the committee warned.

Partha to quit as MLA, sent to 14-day remand

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

PLEADING bail for arrested Trinamool Congress heavyweight Partha Chatterjee, his lawyer told the magistrate of PMLA special court in Kolkata on Friday that the suspended politician is considering his resignation as an MLA.

While replying the Enforcement Directorate's (ED) submission opposing Chatterjee's bail petition saying the accused is an influential person and his release on bail will cause damage to the ongoing probe into the alleged scam in recruitment in schools, Chatterjee's lawyer Krishna Chandra Das said, "He has been removed from the state cabinet and suspended from the party. Besides, he is ready to resign."

ED's lawyer Phiroze Edulji mentioned in his submission that at least 50 bank accounts linked to Chatterjee are under the ED scanner. "Money was invested through share trading and the investigators found a trust where money was also invested. These investments are suspected to be proceeds of the crime of the alleged recruitment scam," said Edulji.

Chatterjee and his close aide Arpita Mukherjee, who was also arrested in the recruitment scam case, were produced before the magistrate of the court on Friday and they were remanded to judicial custody for 14 days.

Maha Vikas Aghadi's streak to end soon?

Is the Maha Vikas Aghadi experiment over in Maharashtra? Uddhav Thackeray stepped down as chief minister following the revolt of Eknath Shinde and his 40 Shiv Sena MLAs — since when no major meeting of Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) leaders has happened. Ajit Pawar as Leader of Opposition has been meeting the chief minister, deputy chief minister and even the state Governor. While the Congress has become independent, Shiv Sena chief Uddhav Thackeray is busy fire-fighting to keep his flock together. No joint meeting of three party leaders are happening any more. Buzz is Shiv Sena will exit the alliance and revert to its old roots — which will mark the end of the 2.5-year-old streak of the MVA.

Sharad Pawar's silence on Raut surprising

Those in political circles are taken aback with NCP chief Sharad Pawar who has not given his statement over the arrest of Shiv Sena leader Sanjay Raut by the ED in connection with a PMLA Act probe. It has been six days since the arrest and Pawar has not made any statement so far. Pawar and Raut share a good relationship and in Delhi Raut was always seen with Pawar whenever there were meetings of Opposition leaders. Interestingly, Leader of Opposition, Rajya Sabha, Mallikarjun Kharge, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi and even Priyanka Gandhi gave statements and came out in support of Raut in this crisis, but Pawar who is close to Raut has been keeping mum is quite surprising for everyone.

No cabinet expansion in sight in assembly

There is no full-fledged cabinet in Maharashtra since the last 35 days. This is the first time that a state has a government but no cabinet. Interestingly, Devendra Fadnis who was sworn as deputy chief minister in Eknath Shinde government in Maharashtra has not allocated any portfolios to the chief minister. It was expected that Eknath Shinde would allocate responsibilities of key ministries and ease the burden till a cabinet expansion materialises. In the two person cabinet, deputy chief minister Devendra Fadnis is functioning without any portfolio. So, he could not take any decision and whatever decision the CM is taking, he has to endorse it and give bytes to the media.

In MP, male proxies take oath for elected women

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

POPULAR web series Panchayat, shot in Mahodiy village of Madhya Pradesh's Sehore district, seems to be actually happening in real life too, in some villages of the state.

A series of episodes expose the real state of empowerment of elected women representatives. It shows how male family members of the newly elected women panchayat members take oath of office in many districts of the state.

In most cases, male relatives of the elected women panchayat members have been caught on camera being administered oath of office by the concerned village panchayat secretaries in Sagar, Damoh and Panna districts of the Bundelkhand region and Dhar district of western MP.

A similar incident has been reported from a village panchayat in Rewa district, which borders east Uttar Pradesh.

One of the videos pertains to the Jaisinagar village panchayat of Sagar district, where out of the 21 newly elected panchayat members (including the sarpanch), 10 are women. In the videos of the oath-taking ceremony, only three women are seen taking oath, while male relatives take oath on behalf of the remaining seven reps.

The story doesn't end there. When questioned by a journalist, the Jaisinagar village panchayat secretary Asha Ram Sahu (who administered the oath on Thursday) defended the proxy swearing-in.

"Only three out of 10 women turned up for the oath. That led to men from their family being administered the oath," says Sahu, while admitting that there is no provision of anyone other than the actual winner taking oaths.

The men who took oath in place of the women reps, included husbands, brothers-in-law and fathers.

In the adjoining Damoh district's Ghaisabad village panchayat, instead of the newly elected sarpanch (from the SC category) and 11 women members of the panchayat, their spouses were administered oath by the village panchayat secretary.

Ajay Kumar Srivastava, the chief executive officer (CEO) of Damoh Zila Panchayat, has ordered the Hatta Janpad Panchayat (the village is part of it) to ensure the elected women are sworn in. "The Janpad Panchayat CEO has also been directed to initiate action against the village panchayat secretary concerned," Srivastava said.

In the neighbouring Panna district, a viral video showed Hakim Singh (the spouse of newly elected village sarpanch Aradhana Singh) taking the oath of sarpanch on behalf of his wife.

The proxy swearing-ins come two months after CM Shivraj Singh Chouhan announced monetary incentives of up to ₹15 lakh for village panchayats who elected women only.

Only three out of 10 women turned up for the oath. That led to men from their family being administered the oath. There is no provision of anyone other than the actual winner taking such oaths

Lumpy Skin Disease grip Gujarat, MP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

THE success of Gujarat in heralding India's White Revolution will become history soon if Lumpy Skin Disease (LSD) also known as Lumpy virus continued spreading in live-stock of Gujarat. Milk production in Gujarat has taken a hit of around 1,00,000 liters per day due to the outbreak of viral infection Lumpy Skin Disease (LSD) among the cattle. This account for 5 to 10 per cent of the daily milk procurement, dairy unions in Saurashtra-Kutch have reported a 15 to 20 per cent reduction in daily milk collection.

The cooperative movement by the traditional dairy farmers in the State culminated into a model with few parallels in the world, but nowadays they all are worried about milk production. The lumpy

UP: 61 cows poisoned to death

LUCKNOW: Around 61 cows have reportedly died in a cow shelter in Santhalpur village of Hasanpur development block in Amroha, the western UP district, since Thursday. As per district authorities, the cattle died after consuming fodder that was allegedly poison-laced.

After registering an FIR against the fodder supplier, the district police have detained seven persons including the caretakers of the cow shelter for questioning. Moreover, the district police have set up five teams to nab the three other persons associated with the cow shelter.

According to state's animal husbandry data, Uttar Pradesh currently has 6,222 cow shelters housing 8.55 lakh homeless cattle. The state has set a target of providing shelter to at least 10 stray cows daily in each of the 75 districts. ENS virus hits their production very badly. LSD accounts for 5 to 10 percent of the daily procurement of 20 million liters. The dairy unions in Saurashtra and Kutch have reported more than a 20 percent reduction in daily milk collection.

The disease has also cast its shadows in neighbouring states — Gujarat, Rajasthan and Madhya Pradesh.

In MP, suspected cases of the viral disease have now been reported among cattle population in Ratlam district.

Rishi Sunak speaks at an event

UK PM hopeful Sunak scores surprise debate win over rival

LONDON

RISHI Sunak convincingly won over an audience of Conservative Party members in a head-to-head television debate with rival Liz Truss in the leadership contest to elect a new Tory party leader and British Prime Minister.

The Battle for Number 10 on Sky News on brought the finalists face to face with Conservative members who are entitled to vote in the election but are mostly undecided on their choice. After the two contenders put forward their arguments for why they should replace Johnson, the audience members were asked who they thought had won the argument and they picked Sunak in a show of hands.

It will come as a boost for the British Indian ex-minister who has been trailing Truss in most recent opinion polls, with the last survey putting her around 32 percentage points ahead of Sunak among Tory members. He was asked by an audience member and potential voter if he planned to step aside in the race at any point, given the polling figures. "The quick answer is no, and that's because I'm fighting for something I really believe in and I'm taking my ideas around the country," Sunak replied. He was also asked why so many senior Tory ministers and figures were endorsing Liz Truss. "Every stage of the parliamentary process, I had the broadest and biggest support," Sunak pointed out. PTI

Representatives Nancy Pelosi insisted on visiting China's Taiwan region," the statement said. "This constitutes gross interference in China's internal affairs. It gravely undermines China's sovereignty and territorial integrity, seriously tramples on the one-China principle and severely threatens peace across the Taiwan Strait," it said.

"In response to Pelosi's egregious provocation, China decides to adopt sanctions on Pelosi and her immediate family members in accordance with relevant laws of the People's Republic of China," the statement said.

The sanctions against Pelosi were regarded as symbolic and it bans her and her family members from travelling to China.

China's sanctions against Pelosi and the other countermeasures came amid rare vocal criticism by the Chinese, especially in the local media, on Beijing's failure to stop Pelosi's visit to Taiwan. Pelosi's visit was regarded as a setback for the image of Chinese President Xi Jinping, who is widely expected to get an unprecedented third-five-year term, unlike his predecessors.

"We will not allow them to isolate Taiwan," Pelosi said adding her trip was "not about changing the status quo" in the region. "They may try to keep Taiwan from visiting or participating in other places, but they will not isolate it by preventing us to travel there," she said.

Home loan interest set to rise on rate hike

RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das-led MPC hiked the policy repo rate by 50 bps to 5.40% with immediate effect

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

A 50 bps increase in repo rate is set to pinch homebuyers as most banks will pass on the hike to external benchmark linked loans (EBLR) which are used for pricing retail loans.

In June 2022, when the RBI had increased the repo rate by 40 bps, most banks had increased interest rate on home loans by 30-40 bps.

At present, the State Bank of India's EBLR stands at 7.55%+CRP (credit risk premium). Interest on homes offered by most banks is now expected to touch 8% per annum, thus marking the end of cheap finance, one of the major factors that drove housing sales across the country since the onset of the Covid-19 pandemic.

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) Governor Shaktikanta Das-led Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) hiked the policy repo rate by 50 bps to 5.40% with immediate effect to combat rising inflation. A third in recent months, the RBI has hiked repo rate by 140 bps since May this year.

Anuj Puri, Chairman - ANAROCK Group, said that the hike by 50 bps is definitely on the higher side, and home loan lending rates will now edge further into the red zone.

"This whammy comes along with the inflationary trends of primary raw materials, including cement, steel, labour, etc., that have recently led to a rise in property prices. Together, these factors - rising home loan rates and construction costs - will impact residential sales that did reasonably well in the first half of 2022," said Puri.

As per ANAROCK data, approximately 1.85 lakh units were sold in H1 2022 across the top 7 cities.

Shishir Bajjal, the Chairman & Managing Director of real estate consultant Knight Frank India, said that with the cumulative rate hike until today, assuming complete transmission, a prospective home buyers' affordability will shrink by around 11% i.e. from an ability of purchasing a house of ₹1 crore value, this would shrink to ₹89 lakh.

Explaining the rise in interest payment, Adhil Shetty, CEO, of Bankbazaar.com, said that people who borrowed at rock-bottom rates of 6.50% to 7.50% in the last two years will see their loan tenors increasing substantially as their interest rates rise.

REPO RATE IMPACT

Share market stable, rupee and bond surge

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

DESPITE the RBI's repo rate hike by 50 bps, which was on the higher side of the expectations, India's equity market remained stable and managed to close in green on Friday.

The bond market, on the other hand, witnessed a sharp surge while the Indian National Rupee (INR) strengthened against the US Dollar.

Amidst a continuing tug of war between bulls and bears, benchmark BSE Sensex closed 89.13 points higher at 58387.93, while the NSE Nifty shut shop 15.50 points higher at 17397.50.

According to most experts, the market had already factored in a rate hike of 35-50 bps. If the RBI Governor had taken a very hawkish stance, to say a hike of 60-75 bps, to bring down inflation below the 6% mark, the share market would have reacted differently.

Sujan Hajra - Chief Economist and Executive Director, Anand Rathis Shares & Stock Brokers, said that their assessment suggests that the market is currently factoring in the peak repo rate at 6% in this cycle and the medium-term inflation in the range of 5 to 5.2%.

"We have a similar view on the rate front but we feel that the softening of inflation in the early part of the next financial year can be substantially more than what is being currently factored in. The measures are neutral for debt and equity markets but positive for rupee," added Hajra.

The rupee appreciated by 17 paise to close at 79.23 (provisional) against the US dollar on

Markets factored in the rate hike

Amidst a continuing tug of war between bulls and bears, benchmark BSE Sensex closed 89.13 points higher at 58387.93, while the NSE Nifty shut shop 15.50 points higher at 17397.50. According to most experts, the market had already factored in a rate hike of 35-50 bps.

Friday. At the interbank foreign exchange market, the domestic currency opened at 79.15 per dollar. It traded in a range of 78.94 to 79.29 during the session.

Soumya Kanti Ghosh, group chief economic adviser at SBI, said that the 50 bps hike is an indication that RBI is more concerned about rupee and external situation by using interest rate as a defence to protect the domestic currency. He added that even though the RBI has front loaded the rate hikes, it remains to be seen how it influences the trajectory of the rupee over the medium-term.

India's 10-year treasury yield had its highest single-session rise in three months as it rose to 7.303% post the policy announcement against the previous day's level of 7.157%. Other bonds have witnessed a surge.

NRIs can now pay utility bills for family in India on Bharat Bill Payment System

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Friday proposed to enable the Bharat Bill Payment System (BBPS) to accept cross-border inward bill payments. This move will enable non-resident Indians (NRIs) to undertake bill payments for utility, education and other such payments on behalf of their families in India.

RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das said this will greatly benefit the senior citizens in particular. The BBPS is an interoperable platform for standardised bill payments. This has transformed the bill payment experience for users in India. Over 20,000 billers are part of the system, and more than 8 crore transactions are processed on a monthly basis, the RBI said.

"This is an important step toward making BBPS a global Bill Payment system. Similar to the global adoption initiatives of UPI by various governments, this will promote the adoption of BBPS by global bill payment ecosystems," said Dileep Seiberg, founder and CEO, MuffinPay.

What the RBI-led NPCI has accomplished with the BBPS will pave the way for the next stage in the development of a global powerhouse of bill payment systems, provided that we are able to integrate global billers onto a single platform, Seiberg added.

MuffinPay enables the BBPS system through its platform. At present, BBPS is accessible only for Indian residents.

The move by the central bank highlights the robustness and maturity of India's payment infrastructure.

The BBPS driven by NPCI is a one-stop ecosystem for all bill payments across India, said Avinash Godkhinid, MD and CEO of Zaggie.

4,300 K'taka firms under scanner, may be struck off list

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

THE Registrar of Companies (RoC), which comes under the Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA), has cracked the whip against companies that have failed to submit their 'commencement of business' bank statements and other proof of existence. The RoC has sent notices to 4,300 such firms with a warning that if they fail to reply within the next 30 days they will be struck off the list.

CV Sajeevan, who was the Registrar of Companies (ROC), Karnataka till recently and was elevated as 'Officer Liquidation', said he had sent around 15,000 notices when he was the RoC. The notices are issued under Section 10 A of Companies Act 2013, read with 248(1)(d). "The companies that come under MCA have to ensure 'declaration for commencement of business' within a specific time. That is why notices have been given to them. If they do not reply within the deadline, RoC has the powers to strike off such companies," he added.

Senior officials said the RoC also has the provision to let companies restart their operations after they pay a penalty of Rs 50,000. The RoC will verify whether the companies have made the submission through e-form, they added. Vinayak Joshi, a practising Company Secretary, said that under MCA, every company incorporated on or after November 2, 2018 and with a share capital is required to file the e-form INC-20A with their respective registrar of companies within 180 days from the date of incorporation of the company. "In 2019, there was an insertion to the law and Sec10 A was added. Small and big companies have to file forms online issued by MCA. Officials will verify the forms online and approve if claims are found satisfactory. Also, annual returns have to be shown, otherwise, RoC can pull up a company. This is to check whether a company's business and operations are still on," he added.

This step is to apply brakes on shell companies and also those that have ulterior motives, he said.

Unaccounted ₹55 cr seized from ex-fund manager

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Income Tax Department has seized unaccounted deposits exceeding ₹55 crore and put on restraint more than 20 lockers after it raided Viren Joshi, former fund manager of Axis

The income tax department said in a statement (without mentioning the name of the fund manager) that the brokers and middlemen used such information for illicit gains in the share market by trading in their own account or account of their clients.

The department said that Viren Joshi's family members have admitted that the unaccounted cash generated from the above operations was routed mainly through Kolkata-based shell entities into their bank accounts.

It has been alleged that funds from these bank accounts would be diverted into the bank accounts of companies, entities incorporated in India and other low tax jurisdictions. "The gleaming of seized evidence has exposed the nexus between the ex-fund manager, middlemen, share brokers, and entry operators," said the department.

Viren Joshi has been accused of sharing specific trade related information with brokers/middlemen and persons located in certain foreign jurisdictions

QUARTERLY RESULTS

M&M REGISTERS ₹2,196 CR PROFIT ON STRONG DEMAND

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

ON the back of strong demand for SUVs, commercial vehicles and tractors, home-grown auto-major Mahindra & Mahindra on Friday reported consolidated net profit of ₹2,196 crore in the quarter ending June (Q1FY23) against ₹424 crore profit reported in the same quarter last year.

Mahindra's consolidated revenue from operations stood at ₹28,412.38 crore in Q1FY23, up from ₹19,171.91 crore Q1FY22.

The automaker sold 1,49,803 vehicles during April-June quarter; a growth of 74% over 85,858 units sold in the same quarter previous year. Its tractor sales grew by 18% year-on-year to 1,17,413 units.

Rajesh Jejurikar, Executive Director, M&M Ltd, said, "We recorded our highest quarterly revenue for Auto and Farm segments and delivered robust operational and financial performance in Q1 FY23. M&M continues to maintain its no.1 position in SUV Revenue Market Share, while Farm Equipment Sector (FES) strengthened its leadership position with 42.7% tractor market share."

Jejurikar informed that with 2,73,000 bookings, the demand for the automotive product portfolio remains strong. "Following the blockbuster launch of Scorpio-N, we are excited about the next phase with the unveiling of our Born Electric Vision later this month," said Jejurikar.

Anish Shah, group managing director and CEO, Mahindra and Mahindra, informed that the semiconductor crisis has largely abated and it is now the high demand that is driving the higher wait times. Without giving much detail, Shah said that they have kicked off capacity expansion programmes.

"We are ramping up capacity to make sure we can leverage all the demand we have," he said.

Beauty retailer Nykaa's Q1 net profit grows 33%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

BEAUTY products retailer Nykaa's parent company FSN E-Commerce Ventures on Friday posted a 33% increase in consolidated net profit at ₹4.55 crore in the June quarter compared to ₹3.41 crore in the same quarter last year.

However, sequentially, the company's profit declined 47% from ₹8.56 crore in the last quarter. Its revenue from operations grew 41% to ₹1,148 crore in the first quarter compared to ₹817 crore in the year-to-date period.

The company's EBITDA grew 71% Y-o-Y to ₹46.1 crore in Q1 FY2023. EBITDA margin as percentage of Revenue from Operations improved to 4.0% in the first quarter compared to 3.3% in the same quarter last year, led by improvement in gross margin and efficiency in fulfillment expense.

The company board on Friday approved the acquisition of 100% of Illuminar Media, which is in the business of running and operating a digital platform.

Paytm's net loss widens to ₹645 cr in Q1

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

ONE97 Communications, the parent company of fintech firm Paytm, on Friday reported a consolidated loss of ₹645 crore for the first quarter of FY2023 compared with a loss of ₹382 crore a year earlier.

Its revenue from operations came in at ₹1,680 crore in the first quarter, up 89% from the year-ago quarter. Paytm's revenue growth has dwarfed by its rising expenses, especially payment processing charges. The firm's direct expenses in the June quarter surged 48% year-on-year to ₹954 crore while its indirect expenses surged 35% to ₹11 crore.

The company said it was firmly on path towards achieving operating profitability on better cost leverage. "We have redoubled our focus on driving profitable payments business, across UPI, wallet, cards, and other instruments," it said.

"Earlier this year, we had shared that we would achieve operating profitability (i.e. EBITDA before ESOP cost) by September 2023, driven by better monetization as well as moderating growth in costs."

Food processing sector grows 11% in 5 yrs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

INDIA has a huge potential in the food processing sector that needs to be tapped, an industry report said on Friday.

According to the report on India's food processing industry released by the Confederation of Indian Industries (CII) at FoodPro, a food processing technology exhibition, the industry saw an 11% growth between Financial Years 2015 and 2020. "It (India) has performed better than Brazil, US and China as of 2021 in terms of growth. But there is immense potential to unlock. India processes only 30% of its total meat production compared to Brazil (50% -60%) and the US (almost 90%). In fruits, India processes 5% of its production, compared to Brazil (35-40%) and the US (about 20%)," the report reads.

Quality inconsistency, fragmented agriculture production, demand-supply mismatch, low penetration of technology, and supply chain issues like the availability of cold storage and warehousing facilities are the major barriers to the growth of the industry. The presence of pesticide residues and lack of awareness on policy requirements for global markets impact food processing exports, the report finds.

Tamil Nadu is one of the leading exporters in the marine, rice, dairy and cereal segments, R Sakkarapandi, Tamil Nadu Minister for Food and Civil Supplies, said addressing the event.

DAY'S DIARY

Space sick

In 1961, the first case of motion sickness in space was reported by Russian astronaut Gen Gherman Stepanovich Titov aboard the 4.7 tonne Vostok-2 capsule

SLENDER IN SPACE

He was the first human to sleep in a weightless atmosphere and the first to suffer from the nausea now known as space sickness, common to many astronauts

SPACE ADAPTATION SYNDROME

SAS symptoms can even be experienced after lengthy exposure to high gravitational forces in a human centrifuge, as is used for instance for testing and training fighter pilots

REASON

Astronauts also experience symptoms following lengthy rotation on Earth. They are caused by adaptation to a different gravitational force

Canara Bank inks MoU with IISc

Canara Bank and Indian Institute of Science (IISc), Bengaluru signed an MoU, at IISc recently. The MoU was signed by the general manager of Canara Bank RP Jaiswal and the registrar of IISc, Bengaluru (retd) Captain Sridhar Warrier who exchanged an MoU for granting Vidya Turant Educational Loans to students of IISc. Canara Bank CGM Debananda Sahoo, Canara Bank DGM HT Bhaviskar, IISc dean Anil Kumar PS, and other officials were present. Under this scheme, students can avail education loans without a collateral, with 100 per cent finance for the project cost, and a flexible repayment period of up to 15 years. Students of IISc will have the option to avail a collateral-free education loan either from their place of domicile or from the place where they got admission into IISc.

FEISAL ALKAZI, SON OF LATE EBRAHIM ALKAZI, FORMER DIRECTOR OF THE NATIONAL SCHOOL OF DRAMA (NSD), IS BRINGING TWO ICONIC PLAYS TO THE CITY THIS WEEKEND

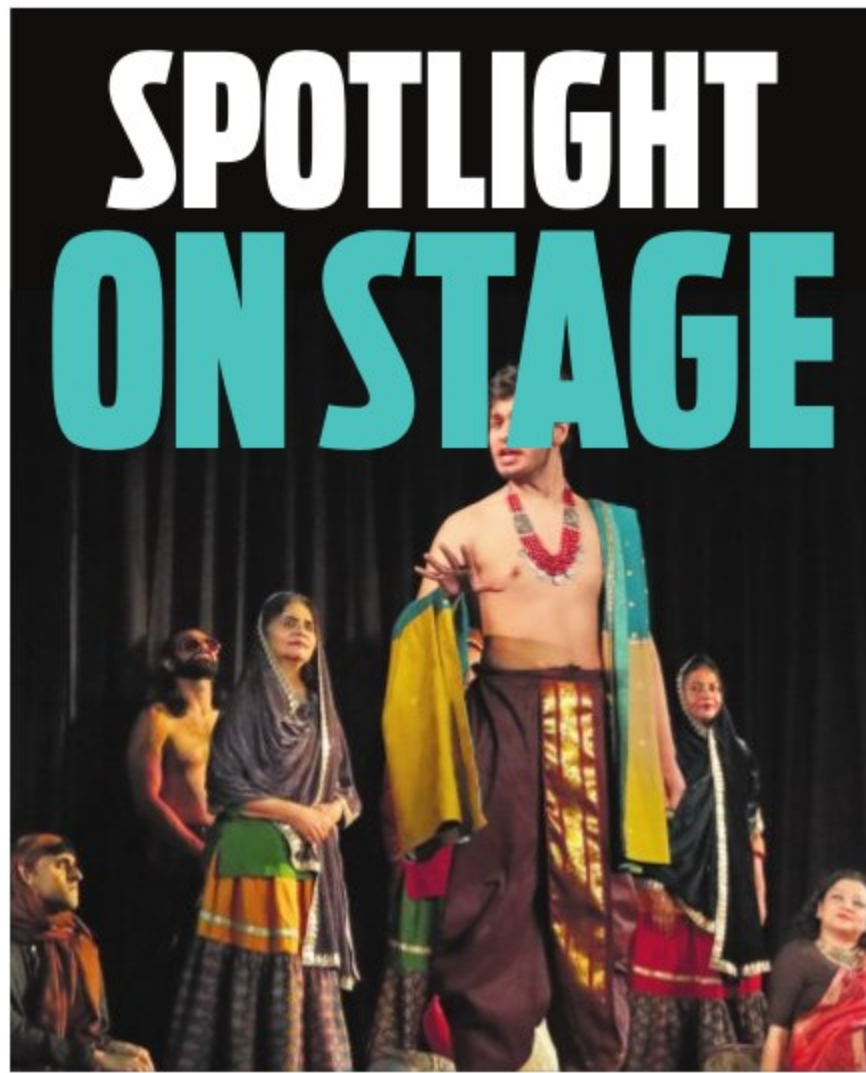

ANAGHA PARVATHI

THE Ruchika Theatre Group, under the direction of Feisal Alkazi, son of Ebrahim Alkazi, former director of the National School of Drama, will perform two iconic plays The Dark Road and Devyani at Ranga Shankara, the performing arts theatre in Bengaluru, on August 6 and 7, respectively.

Educationist, social activist, a master trainer and theatre director, Feisal Alkazi has established himself in the Indian theatre scene over the past 42 years with Ruchika, and has over 200 plays to his name. Since its inception in 1972, the group has been consistently offering a season of at least three new performances every year. Set in three languages—English, Hindi and Urdu—the edifice of these plays is social issues.

Strindberg's The Father, Kurosawa's Rashomon, Marsha Norman's Night, Mother, Goldemberg's Letters Home are some of the best of the constellation, which have enthralled audiences in Mumbai, Pune, Kanpur, Shimla, Kathmandu, and even Hong Kong. Members of the award-winning Ruchika are now famous film and television personalities like Neena Gupta and Harsh Chhaya.

The first play, The Dark Road is based on China's one-child policy, which was in force between 1980 and 2015, giving rise to a new class of refugees: those who practice family planning. The play is based on a book by Ma Jian, a British writer, about the arduous journey of a young couple Meili and Kongzi as they try to flee by travelling down the Yangtze. "After the show ended, we thought it had flopped. Then came a huge applause as the audience was weeping," recounts Alkazi.

In the first scenes of the play, a young girl is seen with a toothbrush which is tied to a string around her neck. A mug is fastened to her waist to prevent theft at night. There are no dialogues for the first seven minutes of the 80-minute play.

The play, which opened last week in Delhi, revolves around two neighbouring boats, and the dock. "We have worked on the process over the past three months. We even observed the lives of the downtrodden, those who live on the streets, to make it convincing on stage," reveals Alkazi.

Their second play, Devyani—which is 1 hour and 40 minutes—will be performed on August 7, and comprises two acts. The story captures the beginning of the Mahabharata. Only Shukracharya had the secret of sanjeevani. So the Deva send a young attractive man Kacha to Shukracharya to learn from him, and he falls in love with his daughter.

The play uses several traditional forms like Kalari, Kathakali, among others for certain scenes. "For the first half of the play, the forest is a huge character. The whole atmosphere makes you feel like you are in a dark, enchanted, magical, and an impenetrable forest," describes Alkazi.

The crew rehearsed for almost six months, working on the movements and minute details. "I did not want people to say, 'This is Kalari or Kathakali'. So we had to blend it all together with music and sound to make an effect in the minds of the audience," he says, adding, "We don't train, we really evolve as we do it, improvising and trying again till it is perfect."

- These Indian spices have their own unique aroma and flavour to them. This variety of spice might have one origin but has two distinct flavours to it. The seed and the lacy membrane that covers the seeds are the parts that it originates from. Name the spice.
- This spice has a distinct flavour that combines well with both savoury and sweet. The spice is made of a shell and a bunch of seeds inside. It has two major varieties that are small and large and ranges from light yellow-green colour to a dark black colour.
- This is one of the ways of preservation followed in Indian food culture. The preservation of rose petals with a variety of herbs and sugar gives a unique taste to this product. This dish is also a flavour in itself and also a sweetening agent for many desserts.

FIT BIT

ARDHA KATI CHAKRASANA

(STANDING SIDE STRETCH POSE VARIATION)

This brings good balance to the body. Lengthens the muscles especially those placed between ribs and pelvis when practised regularly. It is a beginner-level yoga pose and is performed in a standing position. It involves side-bending. Variation poses can be taught to students who find the main pose hard.

STEPS

- After releasing from the side bend, come to the centre and relax, taking a few rounds of breathing in Tadasana (Mountain Pose).
- Placing the right hand over the left shoulder from the front, and placing the left arm around the right side of the hips from behind, inhale and slowly raise the torso and twist, taking the body towards the left side while trying to look down behind you.
- In this pose, twisting of the torso and the neck along with the shoulders releases any kind of stress or stiffness around the shoulder and the neck region.
- Remain in this position for about two breaths or 30 seconds.
- Release from the pose and turn towards the right side while placing the left arm on the right shoulder and placing the right arm around the waist from behind with your hands. Hold for the same amount of time.

BENEFITS

- Helps to improve flexibility of hips.
- Tones the muscles around the waist, hips and abdomen.
- Stretches to the spine.
- Helps in keeping the spine healthy and flexible.
- Stretches the lateral thoracic muscles and increases blood supply to them.
- Stretches and relaxes the flanks and sides of the body.
- Helps relieve back pain and constipation.
- Lengthens the muscles of abdomen, thigh and hips.
- Helps to improve liver functions.
- Improves breathing by clearing lung blockages.
- Activates, energises and balances the Manipura (Navel) Chakra.

LIMITATIONS

Don't bend forward or backward in this pose.
 People suffering from knees, hip and shoulder problems, avoid this.
 Those who have injuries around hips, knees, shoulders, abdominal and hip, should avoid this.

TRULY, MADLY, DEEPLY

RUBINATIONS
Rubi Chakravarti
 Writer, actor and funny girl

EVEN though the mighty Arabian Ocean separates us, I am always excited at this time of the week because I get to connect with you guys! The (hidden) narcissist in me mentally builds a picture of my adoring friends waiting with bated breath for my weekly column. Bengaluru or Mumbai, the feeling of belonging and kingship is unbeatable.

I spent a lot of my impressionable years in 'Sin-City', as Mumbai is fondly referred to, and my friends and experiences here are varied. Why I bring this up is because it is somehow by divine providence, that my relationships and friendships are intrinsically entwined with the city of my birth. Many friendships from my ooru have had a seamless osmosis into Mumbai and vice-versa.

I met with an old acquaintance, Parvana Noorani yesterday for lunch at Riyaaz Amlani's popular European restaurant 'Saltwater Café'. You could say we were family because Parvana is the sister of my brother's former wife. I remember her as this svelte and strikingly attractive stewardess flying with the prestigious Air India, where ladies were handpicked for their acumen. The relationship though brief was an affectionate one as Parvana was always a warm and bubbly person. I didn't know that she had moved briefly to Bengaluru from Mumbai with her husband and had proceeded to write, Catwalk Cuisine: The Models' Cookbook in collaboration with who else but our very own fashion and enterprise guru, Prasad Bidapa! What are the chances that two people from the early part of my life meet up and become friends under extraordinary circumstances?

Parvana and I had a long drawn out lunch, and it's always a pleasure to lunch with someone who knows their food, and also knew chef Gresham Fernandes, better than I did!

We had an exquisite lunch, with Gresham pulling out all the stops and when I smeared his creamy chicken liver-pate with onion jam over a focaccia which used crushed grapes, I knew I was in heaven.

People often say that they are short on time. But, it's a question of making time to call a dear friend who has had a recent bereavement, talk with another who is going through his own angst and still be a 'braveheart' when your daughter is just on the verge of delivery. At the end of the day, one ends up juggling so many roles that it becomes difficult to separate one from the other...especially when the younger 'uns tell you to chill in a shrill voice and one doesn't know whether to nod in acquiescence or give a dissenting growl!

Call it a sadistic streak but there is nothing like being surrounded with a loud, gregarious, opinionated family. There is so much love floating around that it can swamp you. I got married very young and went into a multi-hued joint family and all my nieces and nephews are grown up with kids (and opinions) of their own. I see my children interacting and having a great relationship with their gaggle of cousins (all the things I didn't have) and I know that 'all is well'.

We celebrated my son-in-law, Anees' birthday at home surrounded by a loving family and chocolate cake...Love deeply and forgive quickly, life is too short to be unhappy.

Biscuit brand collaborates with new-age sweet shop to create innovative treats

Bombay Sweet Shop has partnered with Parle-G to create the 'Geniusly Sweet Collection', which combines the histories of both enterprises to create a limited-edition collection of sweets. Bombay Sweet Shop is presenting the classic Parle-G biscuit in two variations, which are inspired by the Indian tradition of 'mithai shops'. The first creation is the Parle-G Fudge, which is made with 55 per cent dark chocolate ganache with chunks of Parle-G biscuit and crunchy, almond-hazelnut praline. This is then enveloped in a Parle-G peda and topped with a buttery cashew tulle and Parle-G biscuit. The fudge costs ₹625. The second creation is the Chai Biscuit Choco Barks, where Bombay Sweet Shop's famous Choco Butterscotch Barks are combined with Parle-G. This treat features dark chocolate layered with butterscotch chai spice caramel and Parle-G, which is then topped with roasted almonds, sea salt, and some chocolate-coated biscuits. The Chai Biscuit Choco Barks cost ₹400. This collection is available for deliveries across select cities in India. For more details, log on to www.bombaysweetshop.com.

Desserts include the rich moong daal halwa and the delicate creme caramel.

The reign of Ragi

Baked Ragi Chakli

By Dheekshitha AS

INGREDIENTS

- Ragi flour: 1 cup ● Rice flour: 1 cup ● Wheat flour: 1 cup ● Gram flour: 1 cup ● Sesame seeds: 2 tsp ● Cumin seeds: 2 tsp ● Salt as per taste ● Chilli powder: 2 tsp ● Butter: 2 tsp ● Oil: 1/2 litre

METHOD

● Dry-roast ragi flour and rice flour in a pan for five minutes and let it cool. Transfer it into a bowl and add wheat flour, gram flour, sesame seeds, and cumin seeds. ● To the mix, add chilli powder, salt and butter. Pour the required amount of water and knead it into soft dough. Set it aside for 20 minutes. ● Take the chakli-making disc and coat it with oil. Fill in the dough and squeeze it into medium-sized strips. ● Deep-fry the chakli using oil until it attains the golden-brown colour. ● Let it cool for 10 minutes, and enjoy your crispy treat.

Ragi Apple Halwa

By Shanta S

INGREDIENTS

- Ragi flour: 1 cup ● Apple: 1, grated ● Jaggery: 1/3 cup ● Ghee: 1 tsp ● Thin apple slices for garnish

METHOD

● Add ghee to a pan and sauté the ragi flour for a minute. Then add two cups of water and boil it for two minutes until there are no lumps. ● Add the grated apple and jaggery. Stir continuously until it thickens. ● Turn off the heat and pour the mixture into a desired mould coated with ghee. Refrigerate for an hour, garnish and serve.

Ragi Soup

By Ram S

INGREDIENTS

- Ragi flour: 1 cup ● Ghee/melted butter: 4 tsp ● Cinnamon stick: 1 ● Bay leaf: 1 ● Ginger: 1 tsp, finely chopped ● Garlic: 1 tsp, finely chopped ● Green chilli: 1 tsp, finely chopped ● Carrots, beans, cabbage, peas or any vegetables of choice: 1/2 cup each ● Cornflour: 2 tsp ● Salt as per taste ● Black pepper powder: 1 tsp ● Finely chopped coriander leaves and spring onion for garnish: 1 tsp

METHOD

- Make a paste with ragi flour and hot water. Set it aside.
- In a pan, add ghee, cinnamon stick, bay leaf, ginger, garlic and green chillies. Sauté for 3-4 minutes over medium heat.
- Add the vegetables and stir for 2-3 minutes till the vegetables turn crunchy. Cook for longer if you want them soft. Add four cups of water and let it simmer for five minutes. Then add the ragi paste. Stir until the paste is mixed well and let it boil for 10 minutes over medium to low heat.
- Pour corn flour mixed with water. Add salt and black pepper powder. Stir continuously until it thickens. Turn off the heat, garnish and serve.

I NEVER EXPECTED MY LAUNCH VEHICLE TO BE THIS BIG: RADHANA RAM

The daughter of actor Malashree, and noted producer Ramu, talks about her tinsel town debut alongside Challenging Star Darshan in D56

A SHARADHAA

DARSHAN starrer D56 directed by Tharun Kishore Sudhir, and produced by Rockline Venkatesh, commenced shooting with a muhurat on August 5.

The trio was keen on casting a Kannada heroine and they have finally zeroed down on Radhana Ram. The debutant is the daughter of Kanasina Rani Malashree and producer Ramu.

Radhana, whose original name is Ananya, shares excitement about her debut. "With mother being a star and father a well-known producer, my brother and I always wanted to be part of the film industry. I was 13 years when I developed a passion for films and set my mind to become an actor," she says.

She considers D56 to be her dream debut. "I was prepared for my film debut, but I never expected it to be so huge. It was actually my mother, who surprised me. I'm still in shock from the day, she told me about the project to date. I consider myself blessed and lucky to get such a launch."

The newcomer is well aware of the mother's star status and is happy that she got to learn a lot from her and her father Ramu. "More than an actor, my mother is down-to-earth, kind and generous. She along with my father has guided me so much. Even now, whether it is for films or life, I get advice from her. My dad always insists that hard work alone leads to success and I believe this thought has brought him so far."

Aside from the support from her parents, Radhana made sure that she was ready as an actor to face the camera. "Growing up, I was very shy. But to be an actor I had to shed my inhibitions. So I camped in Mumbai for over 2 years and attended acting schools and learnt different styles of dance." She adds that she has taken additional acting workshops exclusively for the film, considering the importance of her role.

The debutant states that sharing screen space with Challenging star Darshan is a surreal experience. "So far I saw mom facing the camera, and today it was my turn. Darshan sir's Kalasipalya was made under our home banner (Ramu Films), and I am a fan of his works."

Malashree is glad that her daughter is getting the best possible launch. "It began as a discussion which began with producer Rockline Venkatesh, and later it moved on to Tharun and Darshan. It felt nice to see the excitement in my daughter's eyes when I told her about this project," she says adding that she was tense till the launch. "I am glad about the positive response we've been receiving. I miss Ramu being around, I wish he had seen this moment."

'Working in a Yogaraj Bhat's film is a like a 2.0 situation'

CE FEATURES

SHARMIELA Mandre, who was last seen in Aake has a line up of films in different stages of production. However, none of them has hit the screens yet. "Finally all my films will be out this year and it begins with Gaalipata 2, followed by Dasara and Mandela. All of them are arriving in one go," she says.

She feels that her being part of Gaalipata 2 is divine intervention. "Working in a Yogaraj Bhat film is a milestone in my career. I joined the industry in 2008 and I had to wait for 14 long years for this. All good things take time, and I'm glad to have got this chance," says Sharmielia, adding, "I had initially got an opportunity to work in the director's previous film Gaalipata, but got cancelled due to a date clash. So it was destined to happen in Gaalipata 2. Though the film went through a change in the cast, the director didn't change us. In retrospect, I think it is a good thing that I am a part of this project."

The film, which comes with an ensemble cast including Ganesh, Diganth Manchale, Vaibhavi Shandilya, Samyuktha Menon, Sharmielia Mandre and Pawan Kumar. The latter two as a pair and the song have created the right kind of buzz for the film. About working with Pawan, she says, "Pawan and I look like a conventional pair if we were made to look usual. But I play a teacher and he is my student. I'm younger than Pawan in real life and it was a challenge to make him look younger. He went through rigorous work-outs and lost a lot of kilos only to look like my student. He made sure that he looked convincing."

About Yogaraj Bhat's working style, she says, "Even though there are a lot of characters, the director has made sure that every character fits the bill. One thing I like about Yogaraj Bhat is that he doesn't let the heroines reduce to good-looking dolls. He adds a lot of value to their roles."

She adds that Gaalipata 2 was a well-organised project because of producer Ramesh Reddy and director Yogaraj Bhat. "Yogaraj Bhat is the 'captain of the ship' in a true sense and he takes his role very seriously. He is the person holding the team together, and makes sure the whole shooting happens smoothly," he says.

'Pawan Kumar and I are in talks for a project'

Sharmielia's career as an actor is not as busy as it was because of her production responsibilities, and Dasara will be her first production venture. "As an actor, I have to just act on the sets. I believe that as a producer, I need to put my heart and soul into a film. I do have plans to produce some good subjects, and three films are in the final round of discussion," she says.

The actor-producer also hinted at teaming up with director Pawan Kumar. "We think alike and I feel he has great sensibilities as a director. We are in talks for a collaboration, it is on the cards. The project details will be revealed soon," she signs off

Ajay designs epic action scenes for Bhola

CE FEATURES

AJAY Devgn's new directorial Bhola is currently being filmed in Hyderabad. The film, a remake of Tamil film Kaithi, will feature some epic action sequences. Ajay has created large sets and partnered with renowned action-directors Ramazan Bulut and RP Yadav to coordinate the stunts. Each action scene is being shot over 10 days. A crew consisting of international technicians has also joined the schedule. Bhola stars Ajay and Tabu as leads. The original film follows Dilli (played by Karthi), a former convict, who tries to meet his daughter after being released from jail. However, his plans are thwarted because of a drug raid planned by an inspector. Meanwhile, Ajay has previously directed Runway 34, Shivay and U Me Aur Hum.

ALIA BHATT LIGHTS UP THIS DARK COMEDY

DARLINGS

Cast: Alia Bhatt, Shefali Shah, Vijay Varma, Vijay Maurya, Rajesh Sharma, Puja Swarup

Streaming on: Netflix

SHILAJIT MITRA

DARLINGS has a cast to kill for. Alia Bhatt, Shefali Shah, Vijay Varma and Roshan Mathew headline this seductive black comedy set in Mumbai. But that's just the start. Equally fascinating, at least to me, are the supporting players who populate the world of this film. Vijay Maurya, Rajesh Sharma, Puja Swarup, Kiran Karmarkar and Ajit Kelkar turn up in minor parts and make them memorable. Even in unimportant scenes, your eye is never bored. Darlings is a reminder that, though Hindi cinema may be having a generally drab year, it's not for a lack of human resource.

The film opens with a short, smart prologue. Badrunissa (Alia Bhatt) rushes to a movie date with her boyfriend, Hamza (Vijay Varma). She waits and waits, missing the show. He turns up late, bearing a teddy bear and apologizing. "Government job leke aya (I found a government job)," he tells her. "Let's get married." Badru brightens up, hugging him. The couple looks happy though we already know what's coming. It's also notable, I think, that the scene unfolds outside a famous multiplex in Mumbai. Having missed a film, Badru's life proceeds to get decidedly un-filmly.

When we meet her next, Badru is three years into an abusive marriage. Hamza, a jerk and an alcoholic, routinely hits his wife, triggered by anything from slips in her cooking to a genuine concern for his well-being. He's an inept ticket examiner by profession, projecting—it is suggested—his anger and frustration from work on his quietly suffering wife. Badru tries everything to get him to change: de-addiction pills, titillation, even a child. One day, pushed beyond all fathomable limits, she takes her husband hostage.

Going by the trailer of Darlings, you'd expect this twist to come much earlier on in the film. Crime comedies, after all, are all about the payoff. But director Jasmeet K Reen is loath to jump the gun. Teaming with co-writer Parvez Sheikh, she takes time delineating the patterns of abuse. The first hour is a gripping yet excruciating loop of Hamza's violations of his wife. He's a baiter and a master manipulator, frighteningly aware of his wife's hopes and dreams and emotional weak points and using them to his advantage. Delicately, without ever really blaming her, the film shows how far Badru has internalized his behaviour Shamsu (Shefali Shah), Badru's acerbic, hard-bitten mother, repeatedly tells her to leave him. But she can't. Class no doubt plays a part in it. "Things have changed for folks on Twitter," Shamsu tells a cop at one point. "Not for us."

Alia is brilliant as Badrunissa. As in Gully Boy (2019) and Gangubai Kathiawadi (2022), her Bombaiyaa accent is spot-on (with an eccentric 'S' added to the ends of English words). While her characters in the aforementioned films were defined by their assertiveness, Badru is a bit of a muddle. Even after she has restrained, drugged up and tortured Hamza, she remains weirdly open to his machinations and appeals (or gives a good impression of it). Shefali is entertaining as Shamsu—"Badappan gaya kan khujane," she shoots—though the winner, clearly, is Vijay Varma. There are more layers to his Hamza than all one-note abusive husbands from Hindi films combined. He's a creature of pauses and tics. His menace comes in bursts. Nana Patekar would be proud.

Cinematographer Anil Mehta works masterfully within limited spaces and settings. Notice how, in the early stages of the film, he retains his angles inside Hamza and Badru's home, and changes them up only after the dynamics of this cramped household have shifted. The intricacies of Chawl life are emphasised; you get a sense of a hundred small hustles running parallelly. The songs, too, are a banger, especially the wild and swooning 'Pleaj!' by Mika Singh.

The second half loses some of its edgy focus. Having pushed its characters to a corner, the film struggles to bail them out. Jasmeet appears to be searching for a clean finish, despite the obvious messiness of what's unfolding onscreen. Certain indulgences—like portraying the cop characters in strictly comic terms—could've been avoided. On the whole, though, Darlings entices and thrills, even if I wish the film had gone all out. I wish it had killed its darlings.
